

Important! Card text overrides this rulebook.

ITEM

Item cards are placed in the players' inventories and help them perform certain actions more easily or enable them to take new actions. They feature a die icon showing the number of times the item can be used before it is destroyed.

- 1 card type – Item – and initial durability
- 2 title
- 3 flavor text
- 4 effect(s) and/or available action(s)
- 5 keywords

QUEST ITEM

Quest item cards provide the players with helpful information and, in some cases, enable them to use positive effects or take new actions. They are stored under the "Satchel & Journal" card and the players may look at and read them at any time.

- 1 card type – Quest item
- 2 title
- 3 flavor text
- 4 effect(s) and/or available action(s)
- 5 keywords

STATE

State cards are harmful cards that players add to their hands after obtaining them along the adventure, generally when they fail at performing an action. In most cases, how you can get rid of a State card is explained on the card.

- 1 card type – State/Character
- 2 title
- 3 taking this state causes a loss of vital force (see p. 16)
- 4 effect(s) and/or available action(s)

BONUS

Bonus cards are positive cards that players add to their hands after obtaining them along the adventure, such as companions, positive states and side quests that players can complete.

- 1 card type – Bonus
- 2 title
- 3 flavor text
- 4 effect(s) and/or available action(s)
- 5 keywords

2. Exploration cards

Exploration card back

Exploration cards are events that occur randomly as you explore the continent. They can be permanent events, temporary events, found items, etc. Each Exploration card belongs to the area of the continent represented by the Roman numeral (I, II, III, IV, etc.) shown on the back of the card and on the Terrain card it is attached to.

Note: the unique ID number of an Exploration card can be seen on its front, in the top-right corner.

- 1 area
- 2 placement arrows (point towards the Terrain card that caused the Exploration card to be put into play)
- 3 available action

3. Action cards

Action card back

Action cards include Skill cards and Curse cards.

Together, they form the Action Deck, that enables you to perform actions (see "Action resolution", p. 11) and represents the players' life force (see "Life force – Action Deck and Discard Pile", p. 17).

SKILL

Skill cards enable you to craft helpful items or benefit from positive effects.

- 1 card type – Skill
- 2 title
- 3 purchasing cost (Advanced Skills only)
- 4 successes the card generates when revealed during the Result step of an action
- 5 effect(s) of the skill
- 6 effect(s) of the item (once it has been crafted)
- 7 keywords
- 8 unique ID number

CURSE

Curse cards decrease the odds that players perform an action successfully (since they are worth zero success). They also cause all players to lose when they get drawn from the Discard Pile during the Cost step of an action while the Action Deck is empty.

- 1 card type – Curse
- 2 title

4. Character cards

Character cards present the portraits and background stories of the explorers that players personify. They also display the character's abilities.

- 1 card type – Character/State
- 2 title
- 3 effect(s)
- 4 flavor text
- 5 corresponding figure

5. “Satchel & Journal” card

Players start the game with this card, under which they will store any  Quest item cards acquired along the adventure.

- 1 hand size and inventory size limit, depending on player count
- 2 title
- 3 flavor text

6. Clue cards

Before the game begins, players select the Clue card(s) that correspond to the curse(s) they wish to try and lift. Each clue provides a piece of information that helps solve the curse it is associated with.

A clue is a Quest item card, so once selected, it is stored under the “Satchel & Journal” card and the players may look at and read it at any time.

- 1 card type – Quest item
- 2 title
- 3 flavor text
- 4 clue and/or effect and/or available action(s)

7. Save cards

When you wish to save the game, use Save cards to store the cards that are in the Action Deck and the Discard Pile and to keep track of the durability of the items in all players' inventories.

Overview

ADVENTURE DECK

The Adventure Deck contains all numbered cards with a green or gold back. These cards may be terrains, events, items, etc.

EXPLORATION DECK

Exploration cards are random events and may have a variety of effects. Players must reveal and resolve an Exploration card before they can put the Terrain card it "hides" into play and therefore continue exploring the continent.

BOARD

Players build the Board as they explore the continent by putting face-up Terrain and Permanent event cards and face-down (foggy side up) Exploration cards into play.

- 1 front of a Terrain card
- 2 back of an Exploration card (foggy side)
- 3 front of a Permanent event card

CHARACTER FIGURES

SACHEL & JOURNAL

All Quest item cards gained along the adventure must be stored under this card, which is shared by all players.

HAND

Each player has a hand that is empty at the beginning of the game, except for their Character card. A player's hand may contain a limited number of Skill and Bonus cards (this number depends on player count – see "Satchel & Journal" card) and an unlimited number of State cards (however, no more than 1 of each state type).